NEW PLAY.

ames L. O'Conuor, S. J., of Philadelphia, was produced in that city for the first time last week and it made a marked impression. It was presented by the Dramatic Society of St. Joseph's College, Father O'Connor's play is the exact reverse of Sardou's characterization of Dante as an immoral and profligate man. play was written largely with the object of counteracting the impression made hy Sir Henry Irviug's impersonation. A gentleman took his coachman to a traying the chief events of the poet's carecr aud of the Iuferno. Ilis Dante is the pure, reverential, high-mluded, nohly gifted Florentine as he appears to the student of his works. The play, which is in three acts, showed artistic merit of a high order, and at its conclusion the Record of the Most Important of the Recent Events Culled From Exchanges.

The Gaelic League is surely progressng. It has brought down the British Parliament. The latest is that this body bad to stock a font of Irish type to print in their Parliamentary papers the Irish correspondence of a Munster Justice of the Peace who has been suspended for per sisting in signing his name in Irish only to legal documents.

In St. Mary's church at Duncrana the Most Rev. Dr. O'Donnell preached an extremely able and eloquent sermon, in which he said there was no way of stopping emigration except hy developing the resources of the country, making life attractive for the people at home and spreading information in regard to the fate of those who went ahroad, not calling bad good or darkness light, hut giving a fair picture of sad failure as well as honorable success.

The obstinate and anti-Irish "Irish National Board of Education" has just, after stubborn resistance, issued a bi-linbi-lingual districts. This is a great victory for the league. But the leaguers will not rest upon their laurels. They continue the fight till such a program is provided for all the "National" schools in the country. The next generation of our people will be hi-lingual throughout.

Another important conference of town tenants was beld in Duhlin at the headquarters of the Irish Town Tenants' Association. Delegates were present from branches of the association in all parts of the country, and correspondence from towns in which branches have been established was considered. From the reports received it is evident that the organization has taken firm hold in the country against those who suffer in consequence of the inequitable conditions of tenure existing. Encouraging accessions of membership are recorded.

Martin Doyle, of Nunery, County Carlow, was lately visited by J. D. Bell, of the Irisb Land Commission, with a view of inspecting the old bomestead of the family at Ballyoo, from which he was evicted in April, 1896. Bell went over the farm and made a careful examination of the condition of the land. The Estates Commissioners proposed to make an offer to Mr. Cogan, the present occupier, for his interest in the farm, and if the offered terms be acceptable Doyle will be forthwith reinstated. Cogan resides in Dublin and it is generally presumed that be will surrender the farm to Doyle, but if this presumption be incorrect the evicted tenant will be reinstated in another holden of equivalent value.

In various parts of the country on Sunday new churches were soleninly dedicated to divine worship and others repened after renovation and extensive improvements, rendered necessary by inadequacy to meet the requirements of the people attending them. The new Church of St. Joseph at Terenure was dedicated by his Grace the Archhishop of Dublin; the new Chnrch of St. Mary at Gortlettera, County Leitrim, was dedicated by Most Rev.
